

Dr. Ram Naresh Bharagava is an Assistant Professor in Department of Microbiology at Babasaheb Bhimrao Ambedkar University (A Central University), Lucknow 226 025, Uttar Pradesh, India, where he is actively engaged in teaching at postgraduate and doctoral level and research on the various Government of India (GOI) sponsored projects. His major thrust areas of research include the Biodegradation and Bioremediation of Industrial Wastewaters Pollutants, Toxicity Assessment of Wastewaters Pollutants, Metagenomics and Wastewater Microbiology. He supervised forty postgraduate and six Ph.D students and currently, the mentor of one project fellow and supervisor of two doctoral students. He has authored one book entitled "Bacterial Metabolism of Melanoidins" and edited seven books entitled "Bioremediation of Industrial Pollutants", "Environmental Pollutants and their Bioremediation Approaches", "Emerging and Ecofriendly Approaches for Waste Management", "Recent Advances in Environmental Management", "Bioremediation of Industrial Wastes for Environmental Safety: Volume I & II", and "Environmental Contaminants: Ecological Implications & Management". He has more than 105 publications including research/review papers/book chapters/book reviews in national and international journals of high impact factor published by Springer, Elsevier and Taylor & Francis Group. He has also published many scientific articles and popular science articles in news papers and national and international magazines, respectively. He has been presented many papers relevant to his research areas in national and international conferences. He is also serving as a potential reviewer for various reputed national and international journals in his research areas. He is also the life member of "Biotech Research Society (BRSI), Indian Science Congress Association (ISCA), India, Association of Microbiologists of India (AMI), and Academy of Environmental Biology (AEB). In spare time, he likes to enjoy roaming in peaceful environments and spend time with his family. He lives in south Lucknow with his family and can be reached at bharagavarnbbau1@gmail.com, ramnaresh_dem@bbau.ac.in.